the day of the city primary Tuesday on account of three hotly contested aldermanic races. The weather was not so hot, or so unbecomingly, the vote during the day was not so large as it had been. The weather conditions probably kept many away from the polls. The probability is that the vote would have been smaller if the polls as the day wears on. At noon the voters picked up considerably and the vote was running at a good pace. Another rush, which will swell the total, is expected in the afternoon.

Special attention has been attracted to the primary because of the fact that certain candidates and opposing organizations are the ministers of several local churches. The churches are expected to influence in their last Sunday evening service the members of the congregation. The Forward Movement has also issued bulletins calling upon the voters to vote for the candidates of the churches who will uphold Police Chief Dovers in his reform campaign.

There is a possibility that some converts to the campaign, although not as numerous as the converts to the cause as favoring an open town. The churches are expected to be the first to declare for a more liberal course than has been followed by the administration of the city government.

Mayor Woodward has given out statement in which he charges that the "open town" issue was injected by his opponents for the purpose of directing the attention of the voters away from the real issues—which he says are those of economy in the administration of the city's business and charter reform.

HOW WOODWARD STANDS.

"Liberal interpretation of our law and a people's administration again."

declares the mayor. "The people of this city are not going to let the city be run by a bunch of politicians. I think that was clearly shown in our last mayoral campaign. I hope to see the city government get together and will co-operate with me to give the city a good administration. Some of them are afraid to do it, but I have demonstrated that they would be willing to do it if they were a spoonful of water in front of it or in front of him."

Final results were held Monday evening at the city hall. The polls in St. Louis opened Tuesday morning at 6 o'clock and will remain open until 6 p.m. Tuesday. The city clerk, J. H. Cochran, of the city executive committee, states that the election is probably the largest in the city's history and of any kind.

All aldermanic candidates are contesting for a seat at large, and all council candidates for council are voted on only by the ward in which they reside. The election is in council. The total registration Mayor Woodward has thrown his hat into the ring for the Democratic nomination for alderman against James E. McLaughlin, third ward candidate for R. Jackson, third ward candidate for E. Weir, who is opposing delegate to election of Councilman (Orville) Mail. Aldman Woodward has been named as delegate against Councilman Albert J. McLaughlin.

Mrs. Mary Barton, against whom J. O. Barton recently filed a sensational suit for divorce, on Tuesday entered a formal answer together with a cross bill, asking alimony.

Mrs. Barton asserts that she considered herself living in a "state of matrimony" until she read in a newspaper that her husband had filed a suit for divorce.

In her answer Mrs. Barton declares that her husband is a man of violent temper and that he frequently beats and abuses his children, and that finally one of his daughters had to have him arrested for whipping her.

Mrs. Barton declares that she could live in perfect happiness with Barton if it were not for his "vicious habit of abusing the children."

DODGEN'S WIFE FILES

SUIT FOR DIVORCE

Declares He Treated Her Cruelly and Was in Habitual State of Intoxication

A sensational suit for divorce, has been filed against James H. Dodgen, the lawyer, by his pretty young wife, Mrs. Kate K. Dodgen, who alleges cruel treatment and habitual intoxication.

As the result of the attorney's action, Mrs. Dodgen declares that she is constantly in fear of her life, and as a result among other things that Dodgen has fired a revolver in her bed room.

The wife sets out in her petition that they were married in May, 1910, and separated in July, 1911, when Dodgen put her out of the house and locked the door.

The petition alleges that Dodgen is guilty of habitual intoxication and that for many months past he has been in a state of continual drunkenness. He has repeatedly assaulted himself from his home until the early hours of the morning. Mrs. Dodgen asserts, and threatens he would bring intoxicated companions home with him.

He has cursed in her presence, she declares, using vulgar, coarse and degrading expressions.

He has threatened her abuse and often he has threatened her with violence, and has repeatedly shot a revolver in her bed room and torn up her clothing.

During the greater part of their married life, Mrs. Dodgen asserts, she has had to live in fear of her husband, the wife declares, and she has been forced to flee from their home at 3 or 4 o'clock in the morning and seek her protection in the morning and seek her protection in the morning.

SCHOOLS STILL CROWDED: SLATON BLAMES COUNCIL

Children Have to Use Rough Benches in Lieu of Desks, He Says

In a statement recently issued William M. Slaton, superintendent of the city schools, blames council for the congested condition of the Highland Avenue school, which has occasioned considerable criticism.

Superintendent Slaton denies the rumor that children have been compelled to sit on the floor at this school, but states that it is almost impossible properly to accommodate all who apply for admission, because of a lack of desks.

Rough benches have been placed around the edges of the class rooms and the children use these, he says.

A number of desks have been ordered for the school, the superintendent states, and when they arrive, he will be able to handle the situation.

Mr. Slaton declares that work on the Moreland school is being pushed as rapidly as possible, and he expects to open the school on Monday. This will greatly facilitate the handling of the increased school attendance, he says.

MRS. R. F. MADDOX'S FATHER DIED MONDAY

Nathaniel Baxter, Jr., Prominent Tennessean, Dies at Nashville Home

Advice received in Atlanta Monday night of the death in Nashville, Tenn., of Mr. Nathaniel Baxter, Jr., father of Mrs. Robert F. Maddox, of this city, was one of Nashville's foremost citizens and was well known throughout the south. He was a member of the legislature, lawyer, farmer and capitalist. Mr. Baxter suffered a severe illness about two weeks ago. Pneumonia developed later and all that medical skill and tender nursing could do was of no avail. He passed away at his home, 217 Eighth avenue, surrounded by his family and close personal friends.

Several friends called in the cause of the Confederacy in 1861 and was sentenced to the cavalry under Fort Jones two years later and was released on parole. He returned to Nashville and later law. His son, Nathaniel Baxter, Jr., was born in Nashville and died in 1871 as a result of the war. He was a member of the Georgia legislature and served six years as clerk of the supreme court, he was elected president of the First National bank. Eight years later he resigned to enter the military service. About two years ago Mr. Baxter retired to his home in Nashville. He was elected to the state senate and was president his first term. He is survived by his wife, formerly Miss Laura S. Lavender, and two daughters, Mrs. Robert Jackson, of Nashville, and Mrs. Robert F. Maddox, of Atlanta. Accompanied by her husband, Mrs. Baxter went to the bedside of her father last Friday and was with him when he died.

DR. CHARLES E. MICHEL DIES IN ST. LOUIS

Was Father of Mrs. J. Colton Lynes, of Atlanta, and Well Known Here

Dr. Charles E. Michel, famous surgeon and ophthalmologist, died Monday morning at his residence in St. Louis. Dr. Michel was a surgeon and major in the Confederate army under General Alvin Sidney Johnston, whom he attended when he was mortally wounded at the battle of Shiloh. He was then transferred to the army of General Joseph Johnston and had charge of the hospital at Atlanta and was president of the state medical association.

Dr. Michel was born eighty years ago in St. Louis. He graduated at the Charleston college and spent five years in Paris in the Ecole de Medicine studying ophthalmology. On his return to the states he practiced in St. Louis, where he was the first to use the microscope in the treatment of the eye. He was the inventor of the method of treating certain ophthalmic diseases by passing a current of electricity through a needle which is inserted into the affected part.

Dr. Michel is survived by his wife and two married children, Mrs. J. Colton Lynes, of Atlanta, is one of his sisters. Three sisters reside in Charleston, S. C.

ALEXANDER CONFIRMED IN NEW ATTORNEYSHIP

So Says Advice From Capitol—He Is Ready to Take Office

The appointment of Hooper Alexander as new district attorney to succeed F. Carter Tate in the northern district of Georgia has been confirmed, according to a notice from Washington.

Mr. Alexander, however, has had no official notification as yet, but this is expected probably Wednesday, when he will be commissioned and ready to take office.

It is believed that there will be no immediate change as regards the assistant district attorneys, although under Attorney General McInnes' direction there will be only two assistants.

The federal court has a big docket of business to be disposed of.

W. F. GRACE IS FOUND, Noted Piano Tuner Located

WALTER F. GRACE.

The blind musician who is well known as an expert piano tuner.

Hundreds of Atlantians have been at a loss to locate Walter F. Grace because his name does not appear in the telephone book. This fact, however, has been overcome by his friends locating him at Miller's Book Store, 39 Marietta street.

Orders can be left for Mr. Grace by those who want his services by calling Main 374. Of course you will not be able as a rule to talk to him personally as he is out almost constantly tuning instruments, but you can leave your orders by calling No. 374, either phone and they will have prompt attention.

Another thing, Mr. Grace devotes much of his time to assisting people who want to purchase a piano. Everybody, in selecting a piano, is desirous of getting their full money's worth, and Mr. Grace, by virtue of his experience and knowledge, is in position to serve his friends in this respect.

When you buy a piano you expect it to last a life-time, and the advice of an uninterested expert is of untold value.

Remember, Mr. Grace, the expert blind musician, has hundreds of testimonials from Atlanta's best people, and when you want his services leave orders at Miller's Book Store, or telephone, (Adv.)

And how well this kind fits into the average Southern home—where things are what they seem, where we live what we are.

In the new stocks now filling this five-story furniture store (reached through either Whitehall St. entrance) there are many, many pieces and sets of such furniture. Unadorned and inexpensive, but sturdy and genuine and carrying with it the assurance of always being in good taste.

TAX BILL LOOMS BIG IN GUBERNATORIAL RACE

Equalization Questions to Be Big Issue in Political Campaigns

The question of whether the state tax equalization act, passed by the last general assembly, shall remain in effect or be repealed will, according to Representative B. H. Moye, of Johnson county, be one of the principal issues in the gubernatorial and legislative campaigns next fall.

Representative Moye, an attorney of Wrightsville, and who was in Atlanta Tuesday on business, states that the grand jury of his own county last week adopted resolutions calling upon him to introduce a bill to repeal the state tax equalization act, and he says he has been informed that grand juries of other counties have taken similar action and that still others are planning to do so.

"I was called before the grand jury of my county," said Mr. Moye, "and informed of the action taken. I told the members that notwithstanding I had opposed the tax equalization bill the house and had voted against it I would be compelled to decline to introduce a repealing bill. I gave as my reason for such declination that the personnel of next year's legislature would be the same as that of this year and that the majority of the members, who supported the tax equalization bill, would oppose its repeal until after it was given a trial of at least two years.

"I feel that any effort to repeal the law next year will meet with defeat for it has the backing of Governor Slaton and the administration leaders. Therefore, I do not feel disposed to offer the repealing bill requested by the Johnson county grand jury."

YOUR MONEY

Do You Realize That Most of the Currency and Banking Reform Needed is in the Interest of Borrowers?

BY JOHN M. OSKISON.

If I could only borrow a little money at now I could—" or "If I could only get credit for six months I know ex-how," etc. You are familiar with phrases spoken with the light of the eye.

So many who seek to borrow or to spend their credit are known to you as sound and able citizens that you are inclined to wonder why it is that they cannot get what they want. Or why they do succeed in borrowing they are inclined to pay such a high rate for the money.

ough to believe thoroughly in him. When he reports that he can't get a loan from the bank you begin to doubt automatically to curse the bank. But there is this to be said for the banker: He is first of all a custodian of other people's money. He is, very properly, commanded by the strictest possible laws to keep that money safe.

mit him to lend out a part of it;
 when he does so he must get the possible security.
 In this country there are half a dozen possible borrowers of every dollar
 the banka take in as deposits.
 So among the half dozen will get dollar? Jones will get it, ordinarily, if he applies first and offers prevailing rate of interest; and sonity which is unquestionably good borrow the dollar when he comes, though he offers good security. Robinson, and Doe, and Walker, can not offer the same gilt-edge security, must hunt funds in other markets, where the interest rate is inflated by the supply of money and the necessities of the borrower. Now Smith thinks that if the bank- and currency laws were changed the bank. Under the right system the bank would pass on the note made by Jones (who got his loan) to another source of money supply and receive for it enough additional cash credit to accommodate Smith. Here, in essence, is the proposition to change the laws. No additional security for the depositor, the money, nor provision for insuring the payment of interest on deposits is suggested.

He Worry?

WHEN the boy comes home from school and playing, he usually has a keen appetite. If he has any worry, all day long, he is likely to be about getting something good to eat.

That worry, however, will quickly disappear if you'll give him a few slices of the BEST bread that can be made—that's

"SLIPPING ONE OVER" ON THE CHINK

---BY FARREN

THE SPORTLIGHT BY GRANTLAND RICE

As we make brief inspection of the box score evolved from the second battle of the 1911 series, our fancy drifts at once to a piece of ash furniture—a loud, rasping noise and a right fence fence some 100 feet away:

SHIBBE PARK, MONDAY, OCTOBER 16, 1911.

Left on bases—Giants 3, Athletics 2. First base on errors—Athletics 1. Two-base hits—Collins, Herzog. Home run—Baker. Hits—Off Marquard 4 in eight innings. Struck out—By Marquard 4, by (Crandall) 2, by Plank 8. Hit by pitched ball—By Plank (Snodgrass). Wild Pitch—Marquard. Umpire—Connolly behind the bat. Brennan on bases, Dineen on right field foul line, Kiers on left field foul line. That same piece of furniture and rasping noise and right fence fence settled the issue of the series beyond all doubt. They were there in 1911—and their producer will again be on deck for 1913, looking ahead as one of the most dangerous single factors of the series. You guessed it the first time. The name is John Franklin Baker, of Trappe, Md.

BAKER AND THE DOPE. Baker showed in that series the tremendous value of one keen-eyed, long distance clouter—doubly valuable in the drift of close scoring.

After a brief case of fluttering duck feet, Marquard had rallied and swept into one of the finest pitching stunts he has ever known. The game had been tied up, the sixth round was on, and there were two out, when Collins doubled and the Trappe error arrived with his bristling bludgeon. Rubb, still confident, stuck a high, fast one over, and two seconds later there was a round, white blot against the azure sky—and the end of a hard-fought, pitched battle.

Collins landed the upheaval in that inning and Baker finished it. These two are still on deck, hitting the ball as mightily as ever, and to ever beat the Mackmen Giant pitchers must at least hold this pair in check—a job almost as easy as suppressing a hurricane or carrying a typhoon across the south sea.

There are the two that lead the Mackian assault, and the Giants have no pair like them to set fire to the fuse.

To show the value of two such people, let us take the case of Marquard. He allowed but four hits and failed to yield a pass—yet of these four hits two came together and the last drifted on beyond the mortal sight of the 30,000 who saw the game.

WHAT THEY MEAN. Long distance batter means even more in such a brief series than in 154 games. And Mack has two such volleys to McGraw's.

MARQUARD AND PLANK. Plank in that battle was at his best—far beyond his form of 1905.

But two years have passed since then—and two years are long sections of a lifetime when one is thirty-nine and a toiler on the mound. Right has been battered harder in the last two months than at any period of his career, and there is room to question the guess that he can pitch another game like that.

But the two years that have put Plank from 37 to 39, have passed up Marquard from 22 to 24. They have proved one man well on his way to being old, but in good for two. But in Marquard, McGraw has a left-hander who can go the route twice at top speed, and who will be even harder to hit.

PLANK MARVEL. One doesn't improve at thirty-seven as one does at twenty-two—upon the ball field. Plank certainly has not come forward; Marquard has.

The veteran has learned to learn two years ago while the youngster had a lot. He has as much stuff, and what is more to the point, he has as clear an head, under better control for emergencies.

Marquard has a harder job to pitch than Plank will face. But with a good rest ahead and the confidence inspired by his two victories last fall will look upon a different pitcher; and, barring Collins and Baker, they found him hard enough then.

PLANK A MARVEL. The wonder of it is that Plank at thirty-nine years, six years older than Mathewson, should still be held as one of the factors of a championship series. He is the steadiest left hander that ever threw a ball—one of the coolest and one of the wisest. He will have plenty of rest, and for that one game in which he will wear watching.

THE FIRST BREAK. After a brief flutter the first day, Mack's fielding corps settled to its work. And it was here that the Giant support first began to reel and crumble—as it has done in almost every world series game since.

This portion of their post-season play for two years must be eliminated or they have no chance. An extra time at bat allotted to almost any of Mack's lectors may bring disaster at any moment. The slabbies facing this Philadelphia club has enough to do with valiant backing, much less the other type.

Along which line it may be noted that McGraw's team has set this season and is playing with the greatest steadiness it has ever shown since assuming a championship role.

Marquard has improved for McGraw and his line play has come forward since that second battle of 1911. But Collins and Baker are still there and back of them ranges Stuff, McInnis, holding intact the old 340 trisuniv.

Emory Teams Now at Work

EMORY COLLEGE, Oxford, Ga., Sept. 30.—Coach Shingle, who had his arm broken by the back firing of engine when he attempted to crank an automobile, was out for his first practice with the junior team Saturday afternoon. He carried his arm in a sling, but followed up a warm scrimmage for an hour, which consisted mainly in running signals.

Coach Peebles, of the sophomore eleven, and Coach Hamner, of the senior team, were on Weber field this afternoon, carrying their respective prospects through warm preliminary tactics.

The freshmen team is without a coach, but their manager is carrying on hard work with the new athletes.

The football season will open Monday, October 13, with two games, when the seniors and juniors tie up and the soph and freshmen meet.

Four clubs were pennant contenders this year. Settled Milwaukee, Columbus early in the season, Louisville and finally Minneapolis laygated at the top and the keenness of the race and the uncertainty of its outcome kept the enthusiasts all over the circuit interested.
